

Damianos Family Sells 87 Acres in Cutchogue

THE DAMIANOS HAVE SOLD 87 ACRES IN CUTCHOQUE. PHOTO CREDIT: COURTESY TOWN & COUNTRY REAL ESTATE

MARCH 24, 2015 BY NORTH FORK REAL ESTATE

The Damianos, the family that owns Pindar and Duck Walk vineyards, have sold 87 acres of property in Cutchogue, Town & Country Real Estate reports.

The land includes 859 feet of frontage on the Long Island Sound, a cottage and a potato barn. The asking price was $8,803,000.

As part of the deal, the family will maintain mature vines on about half of the property for some time.

According to Town & Country, the buyers have homes in Manhattan and Bridgehampton. "They have always been forward thinking and recognized the value of investing on the North Fork," Town & Country CEO Judi Desiderio says of the purchasers. "The future plan for them is for a family compound and vineyard farm. They have great taste so there's no doubt it will be a spectacular addition to the beauty of the North Fork."