

If you want a house with perennial gardens

March 29, 2016 1:39 PM | By Katherine Chaffer

The owner of this house in Cutchogue made sure blooms can be seen from every window and walkway; it's listed for $879,000, March 2016. Photo Credit: Town & Country Real Estate

$879,000 | Cutchogue
1030 Country Club Dr.

Every corner of this one-acre property has been meticulously planted by the homeowner, says Jeanmarie Bay of Town & Country Real Estate. Bay calls the owner a master gardener, saying she planted the property so that blooms can be seen from every window and walkway, and assuring that “something is always in bloom, from daffodils in the spring to crape myrtle in the fall.” The perennial gardens surround the heated, gunite pool, Bay says, and line the winding, crushed stone driveway leading to the home. Built in 1984, the farm ranch offers five bedrooms and 3 1/2 baths. There’s a main-floor master suite featuring walk-in closets and views of Downs Creek and the bay beyond. The home also offers a junior suite and an upstairs wing with a separate entrance that Bay says is ideal for overnight guests or an au pair. There’s an updated, granite kitchen, a formal dining room, a living room and a family room. Amenities include two fireplaces, hardwood floors, skylights and a full basement. There’s a front porch, rear patio and two-car garage on the property, which is equipped with inground sprinklers. Taxes are $13,871. Jeanmarie Bay and Nicholas Planamento, Town & Country Real Estate, 917-519-4180 and 631-948-0143