Hamptons home sales up in Q2

Aidan Gardiner | July 25, 2018

The total number of sales was up in the second quarter of 2018 by three percent compared to the same time last year, according to data compiled and published by local brokerage Town & Country. The median home sales price, $1.18 million, was up seven percent compared to the same quarter in 2017. Individual markets within the Hamptons looked a little different with five of those monitored by T&C up, but another five down and two others flat. East Hampton saw the most home sales ending the quarter, with 97 sales.
