

North Fork Dream Home: Classic Four Gabled Farmhouse With A Top-To-Bottom Luxury Renovation

If your love for an old farmhouse runs deep but you're too overwhelmed by what it would take to modernize one yourself we've found the dream home for you.

Nestled on a quiet Southold street, moments away from Hog Neck Bay and Little Peconic Bay sits a classic 1897 four gabled farmhouse that was completely renovated, restored, and expanded in 2019.

“In this home, the attention to detail and the finishes are the most unique I’ve seen in any home on the North Fork in some time. Every area of the house has been thoughtfully designed to deliver a bespoke experience for the homeowner, their family, and guests,” said listing agent Maryse Bransfield of Town & Country Real Estate.

This charming yet modern home features 4,100-square-feet of living space with five luxurious bedrooms each with an ensuite bathroom, four fireplaces, two living rooms, a front parlor, a spacious and private kitchen with high-end appliances, and an impressive dining room with French doors that lead to the home’s wrap-around porch.

“While there are many fantastic spaces in this home, the centerpiece, for me, is the grand 24-foot dining room,” said Bransfield. “There is room for an incredible table beside the fireplace giving the room a wonderfully inviting ambiance.”

Even the outside of the property has been thoughtfully designed with lush landscaping and room for a pool. The home is located in Southold Park District with South Harbor Beach and vineyards just down the road.

“The house is simply perfect for family celebrations, holidays with friends, and intimate dinners. Altogether, it’s perfect,” says Bransfield, and we couldn’t agree more.

It is listed at $1,799,000.
